GILSON HONORED AT CASEY SMOKER

Faithful and Efficient Financial Secretary of Knights of Columbus Presented With Gold Watch—Boxing Bouts and Musical Comedy Make for an Enjoyable Evening.

Peter Gilson, for twenty years financial secretary of Kingston Council, Knights of Columbus, was presented with a gold watch Tuesday evening at the K. of C. smoker as a mark of the council's appreciation of his faithfulness and efficiency. About 500 Knights were present and a better time was never had in the Home on Broadway.

Three boxing bouts were staged, the first being a go between Billy Roedel and Vince Coffey. The second bout was between Willie Connors and John Troy, while Young Russo and R. Maines were the third pair to don the gloves.

As a bit of variety a musical sketch was presented by five members of the Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church. They were introduced as the Daffy Dillie orchestra, and one of the features presented was a duet on a violin.

A banquet served on the lower floor of the home brought the evening's fun to an end. Arrangements for the smoker and the entertainment were in charge of Lecturer Edward Moran, who was greatly praised for the success of the evening.

K. G. AND E. MEN FORM SAFETY CLUB

Forty-one employees of the Kingston Gas & Electric Company gathered at the Y. M. C. A., last evening and listened to a talk on "Saftey" given by F. B. Van Doren, Safety Inspector of the Utilities Mutual Insurance Company. Through the medium of lantern slides showing pictures of actual accidents and the effects of accidents Mr. Van Doren brought out very strongly to the attention of the employees of the company the necessity of being careful in all work that they do. Not only did he impress on them the desirability of being careful to avoid accidents of any nature but he also pointed out the desirability of obtaining immediate treatment in case of an accident, however slight. He particularly spoke of the seriousness of slight scratches and two or three of the slides put on the screen showed very serious complications resulting from what apparently seemed to be mere scratches on the skin. Every scratch, he stated, should be immediately cleansed and purified by the use of iodine. He also stressed the desirability of calling in a physician in most cases. The first thing in the time of an accident is to use the first aid remedies at hand but then a physician should be called in in order to insure proper attention.

George Smith of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Company followed Mr. VanDoren with a short talk on "Safety Work" in his organization.

On completion of these talks Mr. Roberts of the Kingston Gas & Electric Company spoke on the desirability of forming a "Safety Organization" among the employees and moved that a "Safety Organization" be formed at this meeting. This was carried and the following officers were elected: Henry Ellinge, Chairman; Harry Zellmer, Vice-Chairman; Miss Irene, Secretary.

After the regular business meeting the balance of the evening was enjoyed by those present in a social way. Ice cream and cake and smokes having been previously arranged for by the committee.

It is the intention of the organization to carry on this work with a great deal of zeal and undertake to even better its accident record. It is hoped that through the medium of this organization sometime in the future the work which they are doing may be brought to the attention of every organization in the city and public meetings on accident prevention [illegible].

BRITAIN PLANS U. S. CREDIT RAID

Senator La Follette Submits Alleged Secret Paish Report Outlining Scheme to Secure Billion Dollars Here by Aid of War Finance Board and Later to Fleece Other Nations.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Madison, Wis., May 19.—That England plans a raid on American credit to the extent of at least one billion dollars is the declaration of Senator Robert M. La Follette in the leading editorial in his magazine published today. As proof, the senator submits what he declares to be the secret report of Sir George Paish, England's financial "ambassador" to the United States, which has never before been published in the American press, to prove his assertions.

In the report, Paish urges home rule for Ireland at once, "in order to quiet Americans." "Sir George Paish says that without the good will of the American people Europe is lost," declares Senator La Follette, in his editorial. "It is the Paish plan to borrow of the United States, using the American trade balance, and issue to Americans league of nations bonds.

"If this bold buccaneering scheme goes through, God help the poor.

"Having unfolded this astonishing purpose of the war finance corporation more than 17 months after the war has ceased to function, to betray the American public and outwit congress that created it for war purposes only, the British financial 'ambassador' proceeds to outline his plan to retain in Europe the cash balance resulting from the credit so loaned by the American conspirators against the will of the American people.

"The details of the scheme cover manuscripts in the report of Sir George, and we pass it by and give the 'ambassador's' conclusion:

"'By this arrangement Europe would obtain American credit of nearly $1,000,000,000 for the purpose of providing for its immediate necessity.

"'But there would be no means of remitting back to the United States the sums realized in Europe from the sales of produce, and consequently the bills held in America could not be discharged. There would be a cash balance in Europe at the disposal of the banking group after that of the American produce of nearly $1,000,000,000 and here it would have to remain.'

"Thus the plot is fairly plain and discloses just how the financial pirates of America propose to turn over $1,000,000,000 of the taxpayers' money to England, where, as Sir George naively says, 'and here it would have to remain.'

"But the scheme does not stop there. Sir George is no piker in finance. He plays in a world game where the stakes are not counted in millions, but in tens of billions. Having enmeshed us in his credit scheme, through our financial traitors, Sir George passes on to develop the game in its widest scope. No longer is he dealing with two nations directly involved but the whole world is to be ensnared and fleeced by the English Empire. Says Sir George:

"Probably a generous measure of home rule for Ireland without further delay would do much immediate good to proving the sincerity of the British people. But one such act as the grant of home rule will be practically useless. Step after step, the greater and more far reaching the better, will be essential in order not only to arouse but to maintain the enthusiasm of the American people."

"In the meantime, England continues her blockade against starving Russia," continues Senator La Follette. "She holds over the German and Austrian people a treaty of virtual slavery forever; she continues to arrest and deport Irishmen without warrant and without trial; she still finds money to maintain the greatest navy in the world and refuses to disarm; she has extended her dominion over Egypt contrary to agreement and has to maintain an army to hold the Egyptians in subjection. India is ruled with bayonet and sword.

"With American loans England has gone into the markets of the world and appropriated its raw material and supplied her people with cheaper necessities than our people have here in America.

"If this bold buccaneering scheme goes through, God help the poor—if not, they must find means to help themselves."

BOTTOMLEY IN NEW ATTACK

"America Our Next Enemy," Says Paper of British M. P.—Admiral Sims's Stand "Worthy of Best British Stock"—U. S. Must Not Build Ships Without Allies' Consent.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 19.—Horatio Bottomley, M. P., launched another attack against the United States in the current number of his newspaper, John Bull, under the caption:

"Trouble brewing with America, our next enemy."

Mr. Bottomley defended Admiral Sims, saying:

"Americans are not all Wilsons (President Wilson) and Danielses (Secretary of the Navy Daniels). There are a few smart persons like Sims (Admiral Sims) who has been standing up for the old navy of the old country with a courage and candor worthy of the best British stock."

Mr. Bottomley recapitulates alleged American insults to Great Britain, including President Wilson's instructions to the officers of the Atlantic fleet, when the United States entered the war, in which the British navy was criticized; the floating of bonds by E. de Valera, head of the Irish Sinn Fein; the tolerance of "Sinn Fein propaganda" in the United States and the "snubbing" of Viscount Grey and Sir Auckland Geddes, present British ambassador at Washington. He continues:

"Just as Ireland has ceased to be a portion of the United Kingdom so America is no longer in any sense our ally or our friend. Is it not high time that Premier Lloyd George took the bit between his teeth and told America, just as Premier Millerand told Germany: 'We will not have any more of this nonsense.' Let us get out from America's debt without any further delay as we easily could by premium bonds. Let the United States be notified, whether she enters the league of nations or not, she must have no shipbuilding program unapproved by the allies."

The alleged breach in Anglo-American relations is attributed by Mr. Bottomley to "inane ideals" of President Wilson. "This," he goes on, "is but another name for Yankee bluff."

Mr. Bottomley says he wants to call the "Yankee bluff" though he is ready to accept the American hand of friendship "if given with copper riveted guarantee that it is genuine."

The article adds:

"Every day is making it more manifest that President Wilson entertains the most contemptuous regard for Great Britain and France. If Mr. Wilson is the difficulty—well, difficulties are made to be removed."

GERMANS CALM ABOUT INDEMNITY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, May 19.—News from London and Paris that Premier Lloyd George and Premier Millerand have decided to impose a minimum lump sum of 120,000,000,000 gold marks upon Germany has not visibly impressed members of the government.

The viewpoint is held here that the final amount of indemnity will be settled by Germany's ability to pay rather than by the allies wishes.

Government experts are compiling reports to show the resources and industrial condition of Germany. The reports will be in the minutest detail and will be presented to the allies during the week before the allied-German conference opens at Spa on June 21.

The cabinet, it was said today, has not yet decided upon the personnel of the German delegation nor the German policy to be followed. These steps will not be taken until definite notification is received of the allies' intentions, it was declared.

Public opion has been somewhat confused by conflicting newspaper interviews with Premier Lloyd George and Premier Millerand. The newspaper Mittag, in commenting upon the situation, said:

"Impressionable Mr. Lloyd George, who was influenced first by the book of John M. Keynes on economic conditions and then by Premier Nitti at the San Remo conference, seems to have succumbed to the French arguments at the Hythe conference."

Carpenters Leaving Town.

A dozen or more carpenters from this city left this morning for Goodyear, Conn., where they will be employed on the construction of a large plant for the Goodyear Rubber Company. BEVERIDGE NEW DARK HUED HORSE

With Opposition to Wood, Johnson and Hoover Too Bitter to be Overcome at G. O. P. Convention, Indiana Pick-Slinger Seems to Have the Call With Charles Evans Hughes Strongly Talked of and Host of Others in the Offing.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 19.—With but 57 out of a total of 984 delegates to the G. O. P. convention yet to be chosen, and with the election of the last eight of these, in Vermont, but one week off, the campaign for the presidential nomination at Chicago has suddenly switched from open warfare to trench fighting, none the less deadly because invisible.

That the present lack of indication as to the probable winner of the Chicago prize will swiftly develop into a deadlock once the balloting begins inside the convention hall, is deemed more than probable, and the failure of any of the so-called favorites to break through the entanglements of the opposing forces will lead to the necessity of a compromise.

Albert J. Beveridge, former United states senator from Indiana, it is now being noised about, may become this compromise candidate.

Old guard Republicans are described as still arrayed en masse against Hiram Johnson, the fighting senator from California, also against General Leonard Wood, who led the field in the pre-convention raids. They are equally opposed to Herbert Hoover, former food administrator, while three more or less openly avowed favorites for the job of party standard bearers were consistently defeated in primaries outside their own states.

Admitting the poor showing of these latter candidates, Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, was suggested by the old guard with Senator Johnson as second on the ticket. The Californian at once emphatically and categorically turned down this suggestion, giving every outward indication of being opposed to him as the party nominee. Johnson's friends insist that if Knox and Johnson share the same views as to the treaty as they do, then why won't Johnson do instead of Knox? If Wood, Hoover and Johnson are unacceptable to old guard Republicans and can't get the nomination; and if Harding, Knox and other possibilities are unacceptable to the Johnson and other progressive and independent factions of the party, obviously a compromise candidate or dark horse must be led in.

Some claim this man to be Charles Evans Hughes. Other prominent outsiders, like former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Chicago, share this opinion and there has been considerably whispering of Hughes's name.

Senator James Watson of Indiana is another dark horse selection and prominent Republicans privately consider his chances a little more than good.

Former President William Howard Taft, Governor Allen, of Kansas, and Governor Coolidge, of Massachusetts, are still talked of as compromise nominees, but the one now touted by political sharps as the one best bet is Albert J. Beveridge, of Indiana, with Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, second on the ticket.

Former Senator Beveridge has been put forward as permanent chairman of the Chicago convention, and many Republicans declare, this was not done by hit-or-miss process but according to plan.

The plan they say, is that, in the event of a deadlock, the gentleman from Indiana will rise and straightaway capture the nomination.

A bitter fight against Beveridge is expected from the portion of the G. O. P. camp where certain hostile tents are pitched. Just how far this opposition will go only Chicago will reveal.

Beveridge, say the whisperers, has just the bag of tricks; he is Johnsonian, or nearly so on the treaty; he has a national reputation; is a fine speaker of commanding presence, is geographically O. K. and his career has appeal.

What they mean by this is that Beveridge was born on a farm, led a life of great privation, was first a pick-slinger on a railroad, then a rail-splitter and teamster, ultimately battering his way to the United States senate and the other high places to which he attained.

Today Alabama will choose fourteen delegates. Oregon will select ten on Friday. On May 25, West Virginia and Texas will name sixteen and twenty-three respectively, and finally, one week from today, Vermont will name eight. These results, however, cannot materially alter the situation.

Harry H. Flemming was re-elected president of the board of education at the annual meeting of that body held in the high school Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The meeting was one of the briefest in the history of the board, lasting less than ten minutes. Superintendent M. J. Michael, clerk of the board, called the meeting to order, and on motion Trustee Walter P. Crane was chosen temporary chairman.

Following the re-election of Ernest W. Kearney as vice president, the board adjourned. Those present at the meeting were Trustees Atkins, Schaeffer, Kearney, Crane and Gill. President Flemming is in attendance at the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church being held at Des Moines, Ia.

ANOTHER TABLET HEARING FRIDAY

Owing to the fact that there were not over half a dozen of the industrial workers present at the meeting called Tuesday evening to fix a date for unveiling the memorial tablet erected to the memory of the boys who served during the world war, it was decided to hold another meeting Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall. All industrial plants who contributed to the fund will be asked to send a representative to Friday's meeting, at which time a date for unveiling the tablet will be set. It is likely that the tablet will be either unveiled on Sunday, May 30, or the following Monday. Mayor Canfield stated that he had received a letter from the concern building the tablet in which they stated it would be ready for unveiling on Decoration Day, which falls on Sunday this year.

FIFTY SPECIAL COPS SWEAR IN

Mayor Canfield was a busy man Tuesday night attending a session of the board of public works, followed by a meeting of the fifty special policeman who swore in before City Clerk Doremus at the city hall, when the mayor delivered a brief address to the men, and at the close attended a meeting of the industrial workers to arrange for unveiling the hero tablet.

The terms of the special police expired Tuesday, and that evening they were summoned to the city hall to renew their oath of office, and receive instructions as to their work during the coming year. These fifty men are appointed to act in case of emergency with the police department.

MRS. CLARE ASKS $2,000 DAMAGES

Mrs. Honora Clare of Newkirk avenue, through her attorney, Chris. J. Flanagan, has filed a damage suit against the city to recover $2,000 for a broken arm. It is alleged she fell over a curb box on May 2 and fractured her arm.

Today the water department officials were busy making a house to house canvass of the city notifying property owners to set all curb boxes flush with the curb. In some cases it has been found that the curb box was located in the center of a sidewalk and projecting above the walk several inches.

Mrs. Clare's claim will come up at the next regular meeting of the common council.

Street Force to Await Friday.

The members of the street, who have demanded an increase in pay of $1 a day, met at the barn on East O'Reilly street this morning to receive the report of the committee of six who had been appointed to meet with the board of public works Tuesday evening. The committee reported that the board would take action on the matter Friday at the regular session. The men, after some discussion, decided to wait and see what action was taken by the board.

Bancke was on his way from Toledo, Ohio, to Brooklyn, to deliver the car he was driving.

SHARP CUT IN CLOTHING PRICES IS NOTED IN COUNTRY'S CHIEF CITIES

Retail Prices In Nearly All Other Lines of Merchandise Also Drop From 15 to 50 Percent—Food Least Affected—"Tight Money" and Poor Transportation Given As Reason.

A spontaneous and apparently unorganized slashing of retail prices is under way today in most of the principal cities of the country, according to reports gathered by the International News Service.

The cut prices movement is notable in nearly every line of mercantile business and is particularly marked in the clothing and dry goods businesses. Twenty-five per cent is the average reduction, although in some instances it runs as high as 50 per cent.

Suits of men's clothing which a month ago were selling for $65 and $75 are now procurable in many leading stores over the country for $40 and $50. Values of silk goods have also shrunk considerably.

Food prices, while slower to come down, ranged generally lower today than in weeks. Meats on the hoof are considerably lower and there has been a general decline in prices for all classes of grain. Wheat sold from 2 to 4 cents lower and rye was off from 5 to 7 cents.

The decline in grain prices is not yet noticeable in the flour and bread trade, but dealers declared today lower prices in these commodities were bound to come within a week.

Reports from all cities indicate that the general price slashing is accompanied by a heavy advertising campaign in the newspapers.

Various reasons are assigned for the movement, chief among which are the congested condition of the railroads and a tightening of credit all along the line. Merchants having large stocks are desirous of getting more cash assets and the quickest method of doing this is decreasing stock via sales route.

Chicago, May 19.—Price slashing on many articles of clothing was reported from numerous cities throughout the country today.

Reductions of from 15 to 25 per cent were reported on suits, shoes and a number of silk articles. The chief reasons for the price cutting were said by the merchants to be "tight money" and poor transportation, the former being a result of the latter in the case of farmers unable to dispose of live stock and grain because of the car shortage.

Chicago, however, proved to be an exception to the price slashing wave, leading merchants here announcing that there would be no drop in the price of clothing for the time being.

"Prices for some time have been lower in Chicago than in other cities," declared one leading merchant. "If any stores here cut their prices appreciably, it will indicate either that they have been profiteering, or, that they are selling at a loss."

San Francisco, Cal., May 19.—An epidemic of price cutting was in vogue in San Francisco stores today. Several leading stores announced flat reductions of 20 percent in price on their entire stocks. Shoe sales at discounts of from 10 to 40 percent were announced.

Washington, May 19.—The national capital has been slow to respond to any general movement for price reductions, despite attacks in congress on profiteering. A few of the larger merchants have held their price sales earlier than usual and some of the clothing merchants have been forced to reduce prices in order to secure extended credit. The price of bread has just been raised from 8 to 10 cents a loaf, and other food commodities are striving to hold the level reached during the railroad strikes several weeks ago. Ordinary straw hats which formerly sold for $3 are retailing from $7.50 to $10.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 19.—A few of the leading stores have announced 20 percent reductions in clothing but there has been no general slashing of prices in Pittsburgh. Outside of some cuts of meats, the cost of foodstuffs has been steadily advancing.

Detroit, Mich., May 19.—No manifest decrease in prices for either clothing or foodstuffs is in evidence here.

The trend of food prices on the other hand is upward, due to the freight congestion.

Boston, May 19.—A widespread campaign of price slashing was under way today in New England cities. Clothing and shoes were the principal commodities affected.

Many New England mills report cancellations of orders, leading to the belief that production has at last passed the demand.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 19.—The slashing processes of prices have not reached this city. With the exception of here and there a seasonal sale, where a small percentage of reduction is offered, high prices continue here. Sugar is retailing at twenty-six cents a pound.

Cleveland, O., May 19.—Price reductions in clothing and foodstuffs reported from some parts of the country are not evident here. Quite the contrary, hotel and restaurant owners declare that since the transportation congestion owing to the rail strike, prices in foodstuffs have made a general increase of approximately 15 per cent.

Philadelphia, May 19.—Prices of clothing, shoes and general merchandise are being reduced by all leading merchants of Philadelphia, the cuts ranging from 20 to 35 per cent.

Newspapers of the city are carrying full pages of display advertising daily, this policy being in marked contrast with routine advertising by the same merchants a month ago.

WOOD LED IN LIGHT VT. VOTE

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Burlington, Vt., May 19.—Returns today from the presidential primaries yesterday indicate that less than seven per cent of the voters used their ballots. Major General Wood, whose supporters conducted an active campaign, led the Republican voting. General Wood's name and that of William Grant Webster, New York attorney, were the only ones on the ballot. The names of Hoover, Coolidge, Johnson, Hughes and others were written in. In the Democratic primaries no names were on the ballots but the names of Clark, Wilson, McAdoo and Bryan were written in. President Wilson obtained two votes in this city against six for Clark.

OBREGON FREES CARRANZISTAS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

City of Mexico, May 18.—(Delayed)—In view of his withdrawal from the presidential contest, it was reported today that General Pablo Gonzales might be appointed provisional president by congress to serve until the election is held.

Senor Alfonso Craviato, who brought news from Venustiano Carranza that he is willing to resign as president, has introduced a motion in the senate asking that body to appoint a committee to wait on the fugitive in his mountain retreat and secure his formal resignation. At last reports Carranza was somewhere in the Sierra Madre Mountains, between Pierote and Tiezatlan, in the state of Vera Cruz.

Revolutionary cavalry is still reported to be in pursuit of the fugitive.

All of the Carranzistas taken prisoner in the battles with the revolutionists have been set free upon orders of General Alvaro Obregon and General Gonzales.

British Consul Body of Vera Cruz, who was reported missing after he departed from Mexico City with Carranza and Ygnacio Bonillas, is said to be safe and on his way to this city.

JAPS BID FOR FOREIGN TRADE

By Telegraph to The Freeman

London, May 19.—"Japan has increased her foreign trade threefold since the outbreak of the great war. She has abundant and well-disciplined labor, gladly accepting about one-tenth the rate asked by the English workers. Her textiles and silk goods sell from Lancashire to the heart of Brazil Her shipping lines are taking the place in world trade once held by Germany," writes F. A. McKenzie, in the London Express.

"Her great weakness is that many of the Japanese goods are slight, trumpery and unreliable. The world took them when it could buy no better, but the world is already returning to its old producers.

"The experienced East India merchant laughs at Japanese competition 'They will never do anything really big,' he tells you. 'They are commercial hogs, and want to grab everything for themselves. You cannot trust them. Permanent business cannot be built up without trust. Their expansion is a mere flash in the pan.'

"The old-timer is partly right in his facts But wholly wrong in his conclusions The Japanese conduct business according to a standard of their own which is not altogether our standard. But their methods are improving and every year we feel their competition more. This is the more remarkable because of the tremendous handicaps they have imposed on themselves.

"The great Japanese industrial organizations work hand-and-glove with the government. Cooperation between politicians and traders, to the mutual interest of both, is carried in Japan at least as far as in any country in the world. The Mikado's government, when it became firmly established, recognized that foreign trade was essential for world greatness and so it started to foster it High protection, heavy subsidies, and liberal orders to infant industries were inaugurated. Picked young men were sent at government expense to manufacturing centers all over the world, particularly to England—to Newcastle and Sheffield, Oldham and Bradford, Thamesside and Glasgow. They noted everything. A certain amount om machinery was imported. In some cases one machine was enough. The Japanese took it to pieces and made it their model to build others.

"A factory system was introduced without factory laws. Child labor and girl labor were driven to the maximum. Young women from the country came under contract to the great mills that sprang up around Osaka. They were herded in compounds, paid about two-pence a day and their food, housed sometimes in the roughest sheds and worked twelve hours a day. The factories ran the whole twenty-four hours round, seven days a week, on two twelve-hour shifts. Here was a happy land where there were no strikes, no unions, no organized labor troubles. It was an industrial paradise—for the employers. A few people did try to introduce Socialistic doctrines among the workers; they were arrested in a bunch, convicted of plotting against the emperor, and executed.

"The factories grew to a hundred thousands workers, half a million workers, seven hundred thousand workers! Eventually factory laws had to be passed.

"At the same time the Japanese began to make sure of exclusive markets outside their own country. They were hampered by European and American diplomatic superstitionh about the maintenance of the "open door" to the Far East. Now, the Russian in his attempt to monopolize the Far East, bragged a lot about how he was going to have everything for himself, while actually his advance helped our trade. The Japanese tried another plan. They solemnly promised that the door should be open, then shut it, declaring that their meaning of 'open door' was different from our meaning of the same words.

"Europe, after a time, gradually awakened to the fact that Japan was building her own ships in place of buying them from us; that she was selling to our own customers; that she was making machinery not only for herself, but for her neighbors, and that the output at the Osaka mills was underselling Lancashire in Lancashire itself.

"Then came the war. The world was now forced to go mainly to two countries for its supplies. America and Japan.

"Had Japan been five years further forward she might then have made her position secure over half the world. But the opportunity came before she was really prepared to meet it. She turned out goods on an enormous scale. South America, Australia, India and the islands of the Pacific had to rely on her, but the Japanese killed their trade in many lines in Europe and America for a generation ahead by shoddy production.

"There was great improvement in quality, however, even during the war. Many of the Japanese goods which reached England in 1919 were far superior to those that came in 1915. The Japanese are shrewd enough to learn, as Germany learned, that 'cheap and nasty' is not enough.

"We are only at the beginning of Japanese commercial competition. It will replace German in many markets."

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, May 19.—Church service was well attended on Sunday last.

The entertainment and party will be postponed on account of the sudden death of two church members.

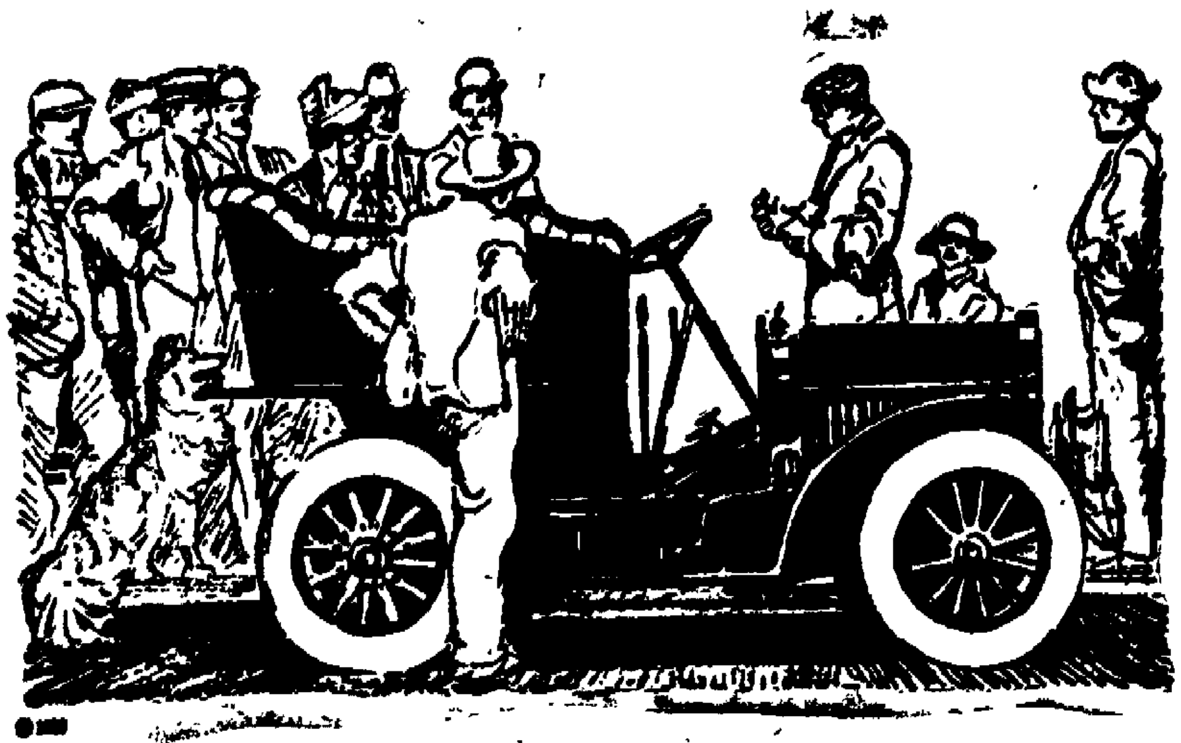
Mr and Mrs. Charlie Gray and daughter, Miss Ethel Gray, of Kingston motored to this place on Sunday last after Mrs. Minnie Barringer. She will now make her home with Miss Ethel Gray.

Merrill Chambers has his deck nearly filled with hoops. Kenneth Barley is the champion hoop shaver.

Miss Mildred More and sister of Kingston spent last Sunday at their home in this place.

The Myers family have taken up their new home on the farm of Mr. Powers.

Irvin Barringer, who has been ill, is improved.



They used to call a man a "sport" when he bought an automobile

THAT was before the days when pretty nearly everybody owned one—or could, if he wanted to.

There was a lot of waste about motoring in those days. A man spent a lot of money on his car and never thought very much about what he was getting in return.

II

When a man buys a tire nowadays he has a pretty definite idea of what he expects to get out of it.

The dealer who sells him one that gives him less than he expects isn't likely to get any more of his business.

That's one of the reasons why we handle U. S. Tires—and recommend them to the motorists of this community.

III

The U. S. reputation for quality is not built on any one tire.

There is not one standard for large U. S. Tires and another standard for small ones.

Every tire that bears the name "U. S." is built the best way its makers know how to build it. The oldest and largest rubber concern in the world cannot afford to play favorites in seeking its public.

IV

Come in and tell us what you are looking for in tires.

We can probably tell you whether you need a U. S. Nobby, Chain, Usco, Plain, or a Royal Cord.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country; wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

For best results—everywhere — U. S. Royal Cords.

MANY MASONS PAY FRATERNAL VISIT

Kingston Lodge, No. 10, Receives Delegations From Maplewood, N. J., And New York City—Presented With Set of Masonic Tools.

Sixty-two Masons composed delegations of Maple Lodge, No. 196, Free and Accepted Masons, of Maplewood, N. J., and Crescent Lodge, No 402, Free and Accepted Masons, of New York city, which made a fraternal visit to Kingston Lodge, No 10, Free and Accepted Masons, of this city Tuesday evening, and were delightfully entertained during the evening and this morning.

Most of the visiting brethren came to Kingston by automobile and were received at the Hotel Stuyvesant, which they made their headquarters while in Kingston, by a reception committee of Kingston Lodge, composed of Newton H. Fessenden, chairman; Elva H. Bogart, Rev. Frank B. Seeley, Edgar X Palen, Harry S. Ensign, Cornelius Hume, George Schwarzwaelder, William O Schwarzwaelder, Charles A. Warren, Senator Charles W. Walton, Cornelius Treadwell.

After a dinner at The Stuyvesant, the visitors were escorted to Masonic Hall, Wall street, where they were the guests of Kingston Lodge during the evening. The third degree was exemplified by the degree team of Kingston Lodge in an impressive manner and the visitors expressed their pleasure at the privilege of witnessing the exemplification of the degree in such a masterly manner.

At the close of the work of the lodge, a banquet was served, after which toasts were proposed by Worshipful Brother William Schwarzwaelder of Maple Lodge, Worshipful Lewis E. Eaton, the present master of Crescent Lodge; Charles M. Van Aken, senior warden of Maple Lodge; Right Worshipful John E. Kraft of Kingston Lodge, and County Judge Joseph M. Fowler, of Kingston Lodge. Newton H. Fessenden, past master of Kingston Lodge, acted as toastmaster. At a late hour the gathering dispersed.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation by Maple Lodge to Kingston Lodge of a magnificent set of Masonic tools enclosed in a leather case, the presentation address being made by Senior Warden Van Aken and the address of acceptance being made by Worshipful Robert E Leighton, master of Kingston Lodge.

This morning the visitors were taken for an automobile trip around the Ashokan reservoir by the reception committee of Kingston Lodge, who provided automobiles and escorts. Twenty automobiles made the trip.

The intimate fraternal relations between Maple Lodge and Kingston Lodge extend over a considerable period of time. In November of last year one hundred members of Kingston Lodge made a pilgrimage to Maplewood and were the guests there of Maple Lodge. During the visit the Kingston Masons presented a handsome silver loving cup to Maple Lodge Most Worshipful Robert H. Robinson, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of the State of New Jersey, is a member of Maple Lodge.

The visit of the Maplewood and New York city brethren was most enjoyable to them and to the members of Kingston Lodge and will long be remembered by all those fortunate enough to be present.

AN ETON SUIT WITH GIRDLE

This is a charming American style of Eton suit, one of the principal features being an attractive girdle, the ends of which are deep fringe. Popular for spring wear.

WRAPS OF STRIPED WOOLENS

Leading Paris Houses Are Featuring These Handsome Materials for Coming Seasons.

Striped woolens promise to play an important part in the wraps for spring and summer, and a number of the leading Paris houses are featuring these handsome materials. A recently imported wrap from Jenny shows a waistcoat of striped green and white woolen material attached to a three-quarter length wrap of black taffeta.

Cheruit and Lanvin are also sending us a number of wraps in the striped materials, and imitating stripes with braiding put on a plain cloth to give the striped effect. A wrap of this kind from Lanvin, seen recently, showed a long, plain underwrap of navy blue cloth with a cape cut on circular lines that dropped to hip depths, says Daily Garment News. The lower part of this cape was encircled with eight rows of black silk braid, and a similar band of braiding appeared on the front of the wrap, simulating a girdle. The wrap was sleeveless, the arm appearing from slits at the front line of the cape, and the high collar was decorated in rows of braiding similar to those appearing elsewhere on the wrap.

An attractive sport suit in black and white wool shown by a leading New York house has a plain skirt of white with a black overplaiding. The jacket, cut on Norfolk lines, has a high collar edged with black braid and the belt, pockets and cuffs also show the black edging. Large black buttons fasten the jacket down the front.

SPRING FASHION NOTES

The modes for spring shown in Paris by Jerome include tailored suits with longer skirts and shorter jackets than those designed for several seasons.

Wraps of large plaids in fine woolen material, edged with narrow binding of skunk or chinchilla, are a Parisian novelty in early spring modes.

New taffeta dresses of plain color are enhanced only by exquisitely dainty fichus of embroidered batiste, of net and lace and of organdie.

Gayly colored plaid ribbons are used as sashes and girdles to brighten dresses of dark serge.

An accepted spring fashion is the youthful suit of plaid skirt and plain colored jacket of duvetyn.

Applied clusters of colorful small fruit are being used extensively on organdie frocks for midsummer, as well as on early season dresses of taffeta.

New sweaters for spring are interesting coat-like models. They are of silk and have pockets, belts and collars. Sleeves are long and many are flared at the waist.

Couch stitch embroidery is a pleasing trimming on many blouses and dresses for spring.

Coats This Spring.

It is a matter of choice this year whether or not a coat is lined. The materials popular during the winter, duvetyn, peachbloom and similar weaves, are equally good for spring coats, sans lining or with a new silk lining which is very suitable for the purpose. But not all the new coats are long. Any number of three-quarter models are no more than suit length. These very short coats are in box effects with flaring sleeves and usually have pretty colored linings which serve also to face revers and collars. Long or short, all coats are of comfortable width and retain a straight line appearance.

Albany Going to Dry Dock.

The steamer Albany, of the Hudson River Day Line, which has been tied up at the Sunflower dock in the Rondout creek during the winter, will be taken to Hoboken today, where she will be placed in drydock and repairs will be made preparatory to placing her in commission for the coming summer.

BRYAN TOLD TO FAVOR HITCHCOCK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Omaha, Neb., May 19.—William Jennings Bryan, delegate to the national Democratic convention, was instructed by the Democratic state convention held here Tuesday, to follow the instructions of the primaries and cast his vote for Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock for president at the San Francisco convention. Bryan received his instructions through being a member of the delegation. The delegation was so instructed in a resolution introduced after the regular report of the resolutions committee had been adopted. It was offered by Former Governor Keith Neville and met with but feeble opposition.

While the platform adopted contains no reference to the liquor issue, it does say that "we favor the greatest degree of individual liberty consistent with good judgment and law enforcement."

About fifty women delegates were in the convention.

NEBRASKA REPUBLICANS

Adopt Platform Repudiating League and Endorsing Knox Resolution.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Lincoln, Neb. May 19.—A short and crisp platform with a punch in every paragraph was unanimously accepted and adopted by Nebraska Republicans assembled in convention here Tuesday. Delegates from all corners of the state renewed their faith in the principles of their party.

The platform sharply repudiates the covenant of the league of nations "as brought back from Europe by the self-appointed American delegate."

The convention went on record as willing to accept the compromise alternative safeguarded by the Lodge reservations only as a last resort in the interests of early peace. Endorsement is given the Knox resolution for an immediate peace.

Great Astronomer Dead.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Cleveland, O., May 19.—Dr. John Nelson Stockwell, Jr., one of the country's foremost astronomers, died at the home of his son here late yesterday afternoon as the result of illness caused by infirmities of age. He was 88 years old. Dr. Stockwell was one of the first scientists of the country to discredit Dr. Frederick Cook's claim that he had discovered the North Pole.

Dr. Moore, a specialist from the hospital, will be present to advise and consult with all who desire to see him.

Paroled patients are urged to report to the Social Worker, Miss Hurley, at the clinic also.

Horace Lenny Walton's career as a train robber, rivaling anything in fiction or the movies, lasted just one hour. In that time he held up and robbed the Illinois Central Express of $100,000 in bank notes, engaged in a pistol battle with the Chicago police, killing one policeman and seriously wounding another, and then closed the hour in death. Walton was shot to death in his apartment, where he had barricaded himself, by Chief of Detectives James L. Mooney. The small photograph shows Walton. In the larger photo Lieutenant Dubach is shown with the grip containing the $100,000 in bank notes.

If we had as much working in overalls as parading in them and talking about them, the end sought would be nearer.

The time-honored and of late highly developed practice of loafing on the job gets a wholesome jolt in the winning of a suit for damages against a Denver plumbing firm proved guilty in this respect.

The literacy test, which was vetoed by three Presidents, now sends back an Armenian girl who escaped from a Turkish harem and came to this country to marry a native of her desolated country who is now a wealthy citizen of Philadelphia.

England is said to have 1,900 profiteering tribunals but so far only twenty-four convictions. In this country we have done a little better, 1,200 arrests, 350 indictments and some thirty commitments to jail having been recently reported.

The Prohibition Commission at Washington reports the discovery of 447 illicit stills in Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee. With such a record for only three States, it looks as if the output of poor and expensive liquor for the whole country is going to be of considerable proportions.

FACTS AS THEY ARE.

Governor Smith's attack on the legislature is answered very definitely by Senator Lusk, who said in a speech in New York that the Tammany governor had spoken without giving sufficient thought to his words. As regards increased appropriations, Senator Lusk disposed of this very quickly by showing that the final say on state expenditures rests wholly with the governor who, with his veto power, can strike out those which he does not think should be allowed. As to some bridge bills which were criticised each and every one of them was requested by the Democratic commissioner of highways and passed upon his recommendation.

The statement by Governor Smith that the state reconstruction program had been killed and nothing suggested in its place, is disproved by Senator Lusk who called attention to the bill which would eliminate the election of a state engineer and surveyor, secretary of state and state treasurer; and also do away with other bureaus and departments. "It was not identical with the governor's program," says Senator Lusk, "but of the two I believe it is the better plan, and I believe that any fair minded citizen who studies both will agree that what I have said is correct."

The welfare bills, which the governor from time to time has urged, were taken up by Mr. Lusk who declared that this year the introducer of the compulsory health insurance measure made no effort whatever to advance it, due unquestionably to the truth that a great number of women of the state, including organizations of working women, had passed resolutions against it. The senator referred to the Lockwood transportation bill, passed last year, which threw thousands of women out of employment and which had to be repealed this year so that they could go back to work and support those dependent upon them.

Another of the welfare measures which Senator Lusk considered was minimum wage, opposed by working people in the face of every recommendation by the governor. The senator rightly said that if we start out on a legislative price-fixing and wage-fixing career all classes will eventually have to come to the legislature to have prices and wages determined, which would destroy the principles of our system of government.

He closed by stating that the governor apparently had studiously avoided many of the constructive acts of the legislature, among bills not referred to being those strengthening the workmen's compensation act, making it include occupational diseases; increasing salaries of school teachers, extension of night schools, soldiers' bonus and any number of others directly helpful to all the people.

While the governor referred to increased appropriations, it might be well to remember that had all of his recommendations been carried out the state would have faced a bigger outlay than even the wildest imagination could picture, so in blocking them the legislature at least did something worthy of commendation.

WILL ACT ON STREET FORCE DEMAND FRIDAY

If Increase Asked is Granted it Will Add $25,000 to Payroll Mayor Canfield Informed Committee—Would Also Mean Reducing Force Of Employes.

The board of public works held a special meeting Tuesday evening at the city hall to meet with a committee of six of the street force to pass upon the remands made for an increase in pay of $1 a day for all classes of labor employed by the city. The petitions filed with the board contained practically the name of every employe. At the close of the hearing Mayor Canfield, who presided, announced that the board met in regular session Friday afternoon, and would take final action in the matter at that time. The laborers now receiving $3 a day ask for $4 a day, while the drivers of teams ask for an increase from $6.25 to $8 a day, and single rigs from $4.75 to $6 a day. They all also ask for a half day Saturday with full pay.

At a meeting of the employes Monday morning the following committee was apointed to meet with the board, Emmet Hicks, Frank Bunten, Joseph Schrowang, George Lawrence, James Cramer and William Gemmel John Beatty, whose teams are also employed by the city, attended the meeting. The committee, through one of its members, called the attention of the board to the high cost of keeping a horse. Feed, shoeing, and the necessary upkeep of the wagons have gone up and are still going up. To tire a wagon today costs $52. Speaking for the laborers it was stated that potatoes now sold for $7 a bushel, sugar 28 to 30 cents a pound, and coal over $12 a ton. Shoes, clothing and other necessities had doubled and a man with a family had hard work to exist on a wage of $3 a day. They also called attention to the fact that when it rained they had to lay off and were not paid, so that they could not count on a regular income each week.

Mayor Canfield speaking for the board said that the matter had been carefully discussed. The board realized conditions were abnormal but the board's expenditures were limited to a certain fixed sum. The board had met reverses through the heavy blizzard of the past winter and had expended over one-third of its annual appropriation already, and that it would prove difficult to get through the year with the money appropriated.

If the demands of the men were met it would add about $25,000 to the payroll and would mean that the board would have to release a certain percentage of the men, and that by September 1, the board's funds would be exhausted and the entire force, with probably the exception of the ash and garbage collectors, would have to be laid off for lack of funds to pay wages.

The mayor called attention to the fact that if an average was struck it would be found that the city was employing older men than commercial establishments, and that if the force were to be reduced it would naturally mean that the older men would be discharged, and they would find it difficult to find other employment. The board, however, desired to keep the entire force together, and it was not a question of personal opinion as to whether the wage increase was necessary or not but a question of finance alone. As the committee knew the board made up its budget the last of the year, and this year's budget had not taken into account any increase in wage.

The board, however, believed that it cost more to keep a horse today than it did last year, and taking the figures as submitted by the men as to the amount they fed and the price they paid the board might be able to squeeze out of the appropriation the sum of 75 cents a day additional for the upkeep of a team and half of that amount a day extra for the single rigs. This was not to be considered a raise in pay, however, but simply a question of fairness to the man who had to keep a horse.

One of the committee called attention to the fact that Saugerties was paying laborers a $4 day, and that Newburgh and Poughkeepsie were paying over $4 a day. It was suggested that the board might be willing to split the difference and grant the men a 50 cent increase.

As far as the board running in a hole financially the committee saw no reason why the board could not borrow money like other city boards, but Mayor Canfield replied that it could not be done legally.

After some further discussion the board adjourned to Friday to meet in regular session and at which time the wage question will be definitely settled one way or the other. The members of the board present Tuesday were Mayor Canfield, and Commissioners Watts, Burgevin and Brigham.

HUNGARY TO SIGN.

Because She Faces Another War if She Doesn't.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 19.—Hungary's apparent decision to sign the peace treaty, despite its drastic terms, was accelerated by the fact that Roumania, Servia and Czecho-Slavia have agreed to make war on Hungary if that country refuses to accept the allies' terms, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam today. Hungary is said to anticipate a modification of the most oppressive terms later. M. Pasnovisky, head of the Hungarian peace delegation, is due in Paris now.

NEW EXPRESS RECEIPT SYSTEM

The American Railway Express Company has just announced that a new system of receipting for express shipments would be put into effect on July 1. All express receipts after that date will be issued in duplicate form so that the carrier may have a copy of every transaction involved in the shipment of an express package.

A specially devised form will be issued and will take the place of forms of receipts used by business houses who do extensive express shipping. Only the special form issued by the carrier will be used in the express business after July 1.

The new plan is similar to that of the railroads' bills of lading, except that express receipts will be consecutively numbered and have a label attached carrying the same number to be placed on each package receipted for. The receipt numbers will be used as a method for keeping a check on the movement of every shipment.

The purpose of the new system is to provide additional protection for express shipments in transit. Following a long established custom, the express company has never kept copies of the numerous receipts which express drivers and clerks issue each day, the receipts being a virtual contract under which the carrier is held liable for varying amounts.

By having a duplicate of every receipt the carrier will not be obliged to go to a shipper for a copy, as is usually done when claims are filed for loss or damaged shipments. The duplicate receipts will be kept on file in the express offices from which the shipments are forwarded for purposes of record and reference. It is expected by the express people that the new system will aid in controlling the loss and damage problem of the express company.

CHINESE CHICKEN.

Subtle Distinction Gets Holy Men in Trouble.

Some of the Broadway connotations of "chicken" may be derived from the Chinese provincial dialect in which the word for "wife" and for "chicken" are pratically the same. A chicken is chidzi; a wife is ch'idzi—the difference of pronunciation being so slight that only the initiated can tell which is which. But all of the Chinese are initiated, and woe unto the missionary who fails to get the distinction. Several of them have failed, however.

One time a missionary was traveling through the canals on a native houseboat. As he was talking with the boatman one day the man announced that he was going to kill a chicken for dinner.

Later in the day the missionary was again making conversation with the native.

"And have you killed your ch'idzi?" he asked politely.

"My wife!" exclaimed the boatman horror-stricken. "Why should I kill her?"

The missionary still failed to catch the subtle distinction which that apostrophe brings into the word for wife, so he went on calmly:

"Yes, don't you remember? You told me this morning that you were going to kill your ch'idzi so that we could eat her for dinner."

Another missionary had trouble with the same word. He was a bachelor, and he had much trouble with housekeeping in the vernacular.

One morning he called the cook into his study and said carefully:

"Now, I wish to give you a very particular order this morning. I wish you to get me a chidzi, and I wish you to exercise great care in the selection. Now, are you sure that you understand?"

The servant was sure, very sure, and with much ceremonial bowing he backed out of the room. Lunch time came and no cook. Tea time, and still no cook. At eleven o'clock the man came back breathless.

"Master, I have searched over the whole city. The cheapest one I can get for you will cost $40, and you did not give me that much money. But I am sure you will like her if I get her for you, for she is a pretty girl and a member of a good family."—World Outlook.

GOOD DONE BY PALISADES PARK

A million dollars' worth of recreation was provided by the states of New York and New Jersey through the maintenance of the Palisades Interstate Park in 1919 alone.

This is the statement made in a bulletin on the use and camping facilities of the greatest camping park in the world, just published by the New York State College of Forestry as the first of a series for which material has been collected by the Roosevelt Wild Life Forest Experiment station of the college through its experts.

The manner in which the gift of a million dollars' worth of recreation is estimated is explained by Edward F. Brown, camp director of the Palisades Park, in his portion of the co-operative bulletin, when he says that authorities have figured that recreation can be fairly valued at 10 cents per hour. The Palisades Park in 1919 cared for 52,350 campers, largely poor children from New New York city, for an average of eight days each, which figured at ten hours a day would mean a total of 4,188,000 recreational hours, or at 10 cents an hour, a value of $418,800 given to the under-privileged city children of New York and vicinity. In addition there were 621,024 persons who spent an average of five hours, and 358,415 persons who averaged seven hours, making the total gift of recreation by the two states to the public $1,050,202.

The bulletin is the first report of a series to be made as the result of a natural history survey of the Palisades Park by the Roosevelt Wild Life Forest Experiment Station of the College of Forestry in co-operation with the commissioners of the Palisades, of whom George W. Perkins is president. In this work Dr. Charles C. Adams, director of the Roosevelt station and Mr. Brown were in charge for their respective organizations, and Prof P. M. Silloway investigator in forest zoology, did the field work reported in the first of the series of bulletins.

AT THE THEATRES.

Tomorrow the superspecial "The House Without Children." It will be shown at the Opera House only for Thursday and Friday.

Taylor Holmes will be at Keeney's tonight in "Nothing But the Truth." It is a sustained, side-splitting farce. "Huckleberry Finn," the new Paramount Artcraft Mark Twain story is the big special attraction at Keeney's Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Dorothy Phillips in "Paid in Advance." James Oliver Curwood's great story of the frozen northlands will be the attraction at the Auditorium tonight. Tomorrow William S. Hart in "The Last Card."

"An Innocent Idea" with Robert Emmett Keane will play at the Opera House on Saturday. Martin Brown, the author, is said to have written a delightfully risque farce that is never vulgar.

STATUE IN NUDE

Of Carpentier Arouses Criticism in Paris.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, May 19.—A storm of criticism has been aroused over the exhibition at the Grand Palais Art Salon over a statue of Georges Carpentier, the heavyweight champion. The statue is entirely in the nude. One critic declared that Mme. Carpentier would certainly force the removal of the statue if she were in Paris.

Odette Dulac, a noted woman writer, defends the exhibition, pointing out that there is no objection to the display of unusually large number of statues and paintings of women in the nude.

"There is at least one statue of a woman too frank for display," declared Mme. Dulac. "Furthermore, there is no objection to statues of famous Greek athletes. Why is it any more shocking to present the figure of a living man than a dead one?"

B'WAY CROSSING MATTER TONIGHT

Common Council to Meet in Special Session to Take Action Toward Defending the Action Brought Against the City by Edward Coykendall.

A special meeting of the common council has been called for this evening at the city hall in the Broadway crossing elimination matter. As stated in the columns of The Freeman, Edward Coykendall, through his attorney, Judge Clearwater, has brought an action against the city restraining it from going ahead with the crossing elimination on the grounds that the city officials had no legal right to bind the city to an agreement to pay all of the damages incurred over $125,000 The call issued by the mayor states that the object of the meeting is to take steps to defend the action brought against the city.

CHICAGO NEARLY OUT OF COAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, May 19.—Chicago today is face to face with a coal famine with only a five days' supply of that fuel on hand, according to estimates of leading coal dealers here. They declared that a crisis confronts the industrial plants of the city.

Freight congestion and the car shortage were given as the chief reasons for lack of coal. A great many coal yards are entirely cleaned out, a number of factories have been forced to close down for hours while awaiting the receiving of emergency fuel, and hundreds of plants are operating on a "coal car to factory furnace" basis, the coal being rushed from the railroad yards as fast as it arrives.

Several coal dealers charge that the railroads are holding big supplies of coal on sidings along their rights-of-way. The railroad heads deny this, claiming that they have not the motive power to transport the cars.

Milwaukee and other cities near Chicago also are hard hit. In several of these, public utility companies have notified their customers that they may be forced to close down on short notice because of the coal shortage.

It's good to "Ship by Truck" and even better to "Ship by Maxwell." 20,000 carry their goods nowadays in this reliable, economical, worm drive, 1½ ton truck.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN CONVENE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Philadelphia, May 19—Today saw the opening of the first biennial meeting of the Women's Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church of the United States. The convention went into session here at the Tenth Presbyterian Church and will continue throughout the next three days.

The chief subject under discussion was the educational work which is being carried on in the seventy-two stations operated by this organization among the Indians, Mexicans, mountaineers and others. Emphasis was laid on the tasks and accomplishments of the forty-one schools, numerous community stations and the seven hospitals Details of the work carried on by these various branches will be presented during the ensuing sessions in a tereopticon lecture which has been prepared for the purpose.

One of the speakers was Dr. John W. Baer, of Pasadena, Cal., Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly. Other noted speakers will be heard during the meeting. A spcial feature of the conference will be on Sunday, May 23, which will include talks by students from the Southern mountains, Alaska, Cuba and Porto Rico. "The Mission School Projecting Itself" is to be the subject of this service.

Considerable attention will be given during the next two sessions to the work of the Woman's Board which will be undertaken this year in Haiti and Santo Domingo.

The expanded Presbyterian budget of $23,000,000 will be partially utilized in an effort to reduce the percentage of illiteracy in these two islands, which in Santo Domingo at present is from 90 to 95 per cent among people over ten years of age. The work contemplated includes social and educational programmes in industrial schools, with courses in trades, agriculture, sanitation and other activities, the Presbyterian Church co-operating with those of other denominations.

The biennial is a delegated body of three women from each Presbyterian synod, of which there are forty. There are at present 177,250 women organized and 135,168 young people.

THE CAPTAINS C. A. MILLER.

YOU will find Captain C. A. Miller in the northwest corner of the Salvation Army National Headquarters building at 122 West Fourteenth Street, New York, up on the sixth floor; and at the same time you will find Captain C. A. Miller in the northeast corner on the same floor. And somewhere over the door bell of a tiny uptown flat, in spite of profiteering landlords and the H. C. of L., there will presently be one card in the nameplate standing for Captains C. A. Miller.

October 13th next, Captain C. A. Miller will change her name to Captain C. A. Miller. The Captains C. A. Miller have no faith in the old superstition which begins, "A change in neither name nor letter is a change for worse and not for better." And the Captains C. A. Miller also insist that thirteen is the luckiest number in the world.

It was last July 13 that Captain Catherine Anna Miller, daughter of Brigadier David Miller, of Detroit, Mich., and one of the fairest lassies that ever donned a bonnet, while summering in the vicinity of Asbury Park, N. J., drifted into an open air meeting which was being conducted by Captain Clarence Arthur Miller, son of Commandant Fred Miller of Scranton, Pa. It was on October 13 that Captain Clarence Arthur Miller was transferred from Asbury Park to assist in the legal department on the sixth floor of National Headquarters, and that Captain Catherine Anna Miller was transferred from Adrian, Mich., to the editorial department on the same floor of the same building, where she is in charge of "The Young Soldier," the Salvation Army's publication for juveniles. It was on February 13 that they announced their engagement.

"There is nothing that binds two persons more closely together than sharing the same name," says Captain C. A. Miller. "It has its disadvantages in mail mix-ups and such things, but it has its advantages too."

Therefore Captain C. A. Miller will change her name to Mrs. Captain C. A. Miller sometime next October.

CUP YACHTS ARE READY FOR TRIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 19.—America's two trim greyhounds of the wave, the racing yachts Resolute and Vanitie, rivals for the honor of defending the America's Cup against the Shamrock IV next July, are ready for their first competitive trial spins since 1914, when the classic international yacht race was called off on account of the war.

The schedule set by the cup committee of the New York Yacht Club calls for a series of six or seven tuning up races to be sailed in Long Island Sound, off New Haven, between May 20 and 27, so the rival brine-cutters will spread their sails in the same breeze beginning this week if the weather permits.

These contests must not be mistaken for the official trials which will decide the defender. The final trials will begin June 3, and will be sailed in Block Island Sound, off Newport. The schedule for these races as announced by the N. Y. Y. C. is as follows:

June 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19

The rival yachts are now harbored at Morris Cove, near New Haven, for the tuning up trials. Both have been undergoing alterations looking toward greater speed and better stability in the water. The long interval between the calling off of the last international race and the perfection of plans to resume the classic event this year gave American yachtsmen an opportunity to improve on the construction of racing yachts, and both the Vanitie and Resolute have been greatly improved. Following the tuning up trials this month the American sloops will be put in shipshape for the official trials during the interval of a week betwen May 27 and June 3. Both yachts have been sailed in Long Island Sound this spring, and from all reports each behaved satisfactorily.

Of the trio—Vanitie, Resolute and Shamrock IV—Vanitie is said to be the best all-weather boat. When the Vanitie and Resolute last met the former yacht dried out with a sponge while the Resolute had to be bailed out. Yet as far back as 1914 both yachts broke records for the course, the Resolute making slightly the best showing, according to a majority of expert yachtsmen. And now, with their rigs improved the rivals are expected to behave wonderfully well in any kind of weather.

Both yachts have taller rigs than they had in 1914 and booms about two feet shorter. Longer gaffs, which give them a somewhat changed appearance, have also been installed. Vanitie's boom is 79 feet long and her gaff is 54 feet. Above this gaff will stretch her big club topsail.

Vanitie's one big fault in 1914 was her steering gear, but this fault has been corrected. The cutting off of her rail from amidships aft and the installation of a new deck made her between 800 and 900 pounds lighter. In order to balance this more lead was added to her keel, and the lowering of this great weight has given her better balance.

Extra spars for both the Vanitie and Resolute have been made in order that no delay may be caused in case of breakage.

The challenger, Shamrock IV, is practically ready for her test spins with the 23-metre Shamrock, which sailed from England recently for this country. Lipton's boat, according to reports, will carry about 1,300 more square feet of sail than either of the American yachts. Shamrock will spread about 10,600 square feet of canvas, Resolute 9,100 and Vanitie 9,200. The Reliance, the last cup defender, spread about 16,000 feet, but she was a much larger yacht, having a 90 foot waterline, where the present yachts boast only 79 feet.

The difference in the expanse of sail is the chief reason why the challenger will give the defender a handicap. It is expected that the handicap will be approximately six minutes.

DAYLIGHT SAVING REPEAL HEARING

Strong Arguments Made To Governor Not To Add To Handicaps Of Backward Farming Season—Speakers Represent All Large Rural Organizations—Ulster There.

The announcement by Governor Smith that there would be a hearing on the bill to repeal the daylight saving law, in the executive chamber at the capitol, on Monday, May 17, at 1 p. m., was responded to to a remarkable degree. The room was packed with those interested and those representing varied interests of the state who wished to record their support or opposition.

S. J. Lowell of Fredonia, master of the National Grange, past master of New York State Grange, ably marshalled the forces in support of the bill, choosing for spokesmen, those who represented large groups of rural people among them being S. L. Strivings, president of the Farm Bureaus of New York state; Albert Manning, secretary of the Dairymen's League; Charles William Burkett, editor of the American Agriculturist; Charles H. Betts, assemblyman from Wayne county; Professor Babcock of State Agriculturist College; E. R. Eastman, editor of the Dairymen's League News; W. N. Giles, master of the New York State Grange and others.

Among the many points brought to the notice of the governor was the prospects of smaller crops owing to the unfavorable weather conditions in planting time, the impossibility of working to advantage but rather at a disadvantage when the dew was on the ground, the psychological effect of changing the habits of the entire population of the state, twice a year, the need of more sleep instead of less sleep in these days of severe nervous pressure, the effect upon the health of the children, the need of getting back to natural conditions as they existed in pre-war times, the need of New York state standing loyally by the federal government during the reconstruction period following the war, and showing its patriotism by keeping in line with the national government's repeal of the daylight saving law, recognizing that the welfare of the nation has been maintained by its people producing all the food needed for its own consumption with enough surplus to command attention in the world's market. It was pointed out from the standpoint of industry, that the greatest industry of New York state is agriculture. The farmer is not asking for any favor, but is asking for the opportunity to produce. Already the high cost of living owing to conditions in the labor market has become a serious problem, but with the limited acreage of the present year, coupled with the limited planting owing to weather conditions, it will not be alone a question of price in the markets of next winter, but a question of supply. As one speaker remarked, the farmer will be sure of his own supply as he is first at the table, it will be a scramble for what is left, among those who have not his advantage.

Those who represented Ulster county at the hearing were J. A. Hepworth, for the Hudson river fruit interests; Millard Davis and Harry Epps, the Farm Bureau; Eliza K. Young, of Pomona Grange.

CAMP OZONE ON UNIQUE PLAN

Camp Ozone, the Y. M. C. A. solution of the boys' summer outing problem is receiving widespread publicity, a description of the plan being sent out by the organization thus:

A rather unique and profitable plan for giving boys an outing in a well regulated camp under the supervision of competent Christian leaders, is being presented to the boys along the Hudson valley by the boys' department of the Kingston Y. M. C. A.

Every year the vast crops of small fruit in this section around Highland, N. Y., attracts large numbers of workers to help in the harvest fields. News boys, farm hands, farmerettes, school teachers and Y. M. C. A. boys alike gather the crops for which they are well paid by the farmer. During the war the boys of Kingston, realizing the need of help in this light farm work, volunteered for two years to help pick the crops of currants and raspberries and were encamped on the farm of L. G. Haviland near Highland, where they combined the pleasure of camp with service. After each camp the enthusiasm and success of the campers caused the Y. M. C. A. directors to arrange for a similar outing this year from June 28 to July 17, at the same place. There are opportunities for swimming, fishing, hiking, games and athletics under an experienced leadership. A regular schedule of work and play is carried out and a report made each week to the association of work done. The best part of the whole proposition is that it combines work with pleasure and fun, at the same time paying the camper in cash for work done. The plan is to pay each boy according to his work in amount of currants picked; his board, which is about 75 cents a day, is deducted and at the end of the week his surplus is turned over to him from the bank in cash. From the experience of past years the boys have earned their board before dinner and the other work is clear gain.

Any boy of good character with a recommendation from his employer, teacher or minister is eligible. There is no expense except carfare to and from Highland, N. Y. If not a member of the Y. M. C. A., it will be necessary to take out a summer membership at the camp which will cost one dollar. Information can be had by letter or phone to Thomas A. Bridges, Camp Leader, Y. M. C. A., Kingston, N. Y.

C. E. CONVENTION IN HURLEY CHURCH

President C. Augustus Raschke of the County Union Sends Letter to Each Society Calling Attention to Annual Session.

President C. Augustus Raschke of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union has sent the following letter to each C. E. society in the union calling attention to the coming convention in the Hurley Church

The twenty-eighth annual convention of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union will be held in the Reformed Church at Hurley, N. Y., on Wednesday and Thursday, May 26 and 27, 1920.

A program of special interest has been arranged with speakers who are enthusiastic and full of the spirit of C. E.

Beginning on Wednesday at 2:45 with registration and a song service at 3:00 o'clock, under the leadership of our old friend Rev. R. P. Ingersoll, and with Rev. F. P. Hunter of Middletown, First Vice President of the New York State Union of C. E., Rev. H. W. Sherwood one of the first state presidents of New York State C. E. Union; Rev. A. O. Malmberg, Superintendent of Good Citizenship of the New York State Union and Carlton M. Sherwood, State Field Secretary.

We feel honored to have been able to secure such a list of speakers and fortunate it will be for all who will make an effort to attend because our earnest desire is to make this convention a decidedly helpful one to all Christian Endeavorers so that every one attending will receive, not only some, but a new and deep inspiration that shall result in much good accomplished and help in solving the problems that confront us at this period of the world's history when a diffusion of the C. E. spirit and influence should become a component part of the masses.

In order that the entertainment committee may know just how many to provide for we ask you to write to Miss Anna Osterhoudt, Hurley, N. Y., how many will attend from your society. A registration fee of twenty-five cents will be charged each delegate and entertainment will be provided for.

In making your contribution toward the expenses, kindly include the amount your society usually pays to the state organization and please make the amount as large as possible. Send your offering to Miss Ida Burnett, Saugerties, N. Y., or send it with one of your delegates to the convention, as Ulster county wants to pay its quota to the state when due.

Schoharie county has challenged Ulster countty on 10 points in C. E. work and every Endeavorer in the county is urged to do their best and help maintain our place in the ranks of Christian Endeavor.

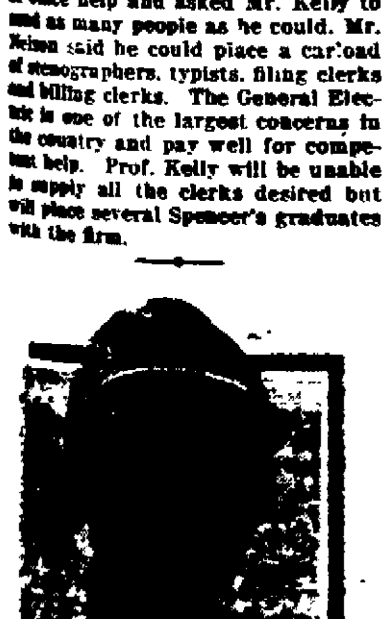
Pray for the convention, work for it, try and have the largest delega- Ulster county on 10 points in C. E. banner convention in spiritual power and uplift, in helpfulness and service that shall carry the spirit of the Master and assist in moulding the destinies of a world with its unrest into that peace which the Master said "I give unto you."

Hurley bids you welcome. make your plans to come, every Endeavorer in the county, you will miss it if you do not come.

HELP IN DEMAND.

General Electric Company Sends Hurry Call Here.

Not only are all kinds of tradesmen and mechanics in great demand at the present time but office workers are also scarce as was shown this morning when the General Electric works at Schenectady 'phoned Prof. Kelly at Spencer's Business School and asked for immediate relief. W. B. Nelson of the employment department of the General Electric stated that there was a shortage of all kinds of office help and asked Mr. Kelly to send as many people as he could. Mr. Nelson said he could place a carload of stenographers, typists, filing clerks and billing clerks. The General Electric is one of the largest concerns in the country and pay well for competent help. Prof. Kelly will be unable to supply all the clerks desired but will place several Spencer's graduates with the firm.



Winning two of the biggest racing handicaps within one week is the enviable record set by Jockey Rice. Rice piloted Dunboyne to victory in the Paumonok handicap on the opening day of the eastern racing season at Jamaica, and a week previous rode Paul Jones to victory in the Kentucky derby.

Food Values of Potatoes.

That potatoes differ widely in food value is shown by a report of the government's scientific committee. It is laid down that the one useful potato for food is one which contains the largest amount of dry matter. Where the varieties are practically equal in the cropping, the difference they contain enters into the estimation of their feeding quality.

HOW WIRELESS PHONES HAVE AIDED IN REDUCING LOSSES BY FIRE.—The wireless telephone, as a result of a season's tryout, during which the handicaps of "packing" instruments over a thirty-mile mountainous trail, the perils of passing through a forest fire, and numerous other tests were applied, has been pronounced a success for forest service work by officials of the service, according to an announcement from district headquarters at Missoula, Mont.

Hereafter, the announcement says, wireless telephone instruments are to be a part of the standard equipment of the forest service.

At the direction of Chief Forester William S. Graves, tests of this plan of communication were initiated in this district last season by R. A. Adams, telephone engineer, who was assisted by Everett Cutting. United States signal corps standard sets were selected for the experiment, and one was placed in position, after almost interminable difficulties, at the Mud Creek ranger station, near the Lolo hot springs, Montana and another at Beaver Ridge, Idaho.

While the air-line distance between the two stations is but 12 miles, the distance by trail is 30 miles, much of it almost impassable even with pack animals. At last, however, after mishaps that included pack horses off the trail, packs displaced and rolling down mountainsides, and batteries and equipment all but lost, the antennae were hung high on convenient pines.

"The sets were used during the fire season of 1919 in reporting fires and otherwise in the carrying on of the fire campaign with eminently satisfactory results," says the forest service statement.

How Wild Things Are Lured.

Fish and frogs are equally curious to examine the many bright lures that the fishermen know will attract their attention. In frog hunting all that is necessary is a gig composed of several hooks grouped together and covered with a small bit of red flannel. When the frog sees this bit of bright red it leaps for it and often hooks itself at the first attempt. Trout, muskellunge and other game fish will often leap clear of the water to grab an especially brilliant lure.

It may be said that every kind of bird is brimming over with curiosity as hunters of every land have trapped them by inducing them to approach and investigate unfamiliar objects. Crows and parrots possess this curiosity in extreme degree, and if anything is held near their cages they are quick to come over and examine it from every angle.

Why Moses Forbade Pork.

Presumably the reason Moses had for forbidding pork to the Israelites was that the eating of pig-meat was proved accountable for the disease now called "trichinosis."

That dreadful malady is rare nowadays because we cook our pork thoroughly, and any "trichinae" that it may contain are killed by the heat.

Not until recently, however, has it come to be known that trichinosis is really a disease of the rat. Pig-sties are usually haunted by those four-footed vermin, which the pigs often kill and eat, thereby becoming infected.

The pig, however, serves merely as an "intermediate host" for the parasite, which, when taken alive into the human body, proceeds to multiply at a fabulous rate, the tiny wormlike organisms invading the tissues with serious and ofttimes fatal results.

How Lawns Were Named.

Years ago the Dutch excelled all other peoples in the bleached linens they sent forth. That was in a time, of course, when bleached linen was considered a luxury. The Dutch gained their fame for this excellence because they had a wonderful system of treating the muslin to make it white. To begin with, they treated it to bleaches and acids of various sorts; and then they placed it on bleaching lawns, or greens, where it lay at intervals from March to September. The white material thus produced took the name of lawns whereon it was bleached—at least so goes the story.

How Chemist Has Put Coal to Work.

The chemist has endowed coal with a multiple indispensability to civilization. In addition to its utilization in its primal state as the cheapest available source of heat upon which all industry and human comfort depend, it is the raw material of the coal-tar chemical industry which ranges in its growing amplitude from the by-product coke oven and the production of industrial fuel and illuminating gas, ammonia and fertilizer, to the manufacture of dyes, pharmaceuticals, photographic chemicals, motor fuels and industrial solvents.

How Canada Honors Heroes.

The names of the 60,000 Canadians killed in the world war will be inscribed on the walls of a church which will be erected in Notre Dame de Grace, a suburb of Montreal. The church will be used by the combined congregations of the Anglican Church of the Good Shepherd and Trinity church.

Pollen Carried Far by Wind.

Wind-blown pollen ("sulphur rain") is known to be carried far. Hesselman, of the Swedish experiment station, reports a quite extensive rain of tree pollen on two fire ships 20 and 27 miles from shore; and the pollen of algae is known to have been carried even as far as 200 miles.

Grave apprehension is felt throughout England because of the illness of Dowager Queen Alexandra, the "Queen Mother," who is suffering from an attack of bronchitis, according to reports from London Queen Alexandra has passed her 75th birthday, and her advanced age has caused the anxiety of the people. Queen Mary's accession to the throne did not in any way diminish the affection which the English people always held for the widow of Edward VII. Often in royal processions the Dowager Queen was greeted with cheers no less hearty than those with which Queen Mary was received. Queen Alexandra was the daughter of King Christian IX of Denmark. She was born December 1, 1844.

CAR THEFTS SWAMP AUSTRIA

Authorities Are Unable to Check Depredations of Well Organized Robbers.

Vienna.—Looting of freight trains, particularly of foodstufs and wearing apparel goes on unchecked throughout Austria.

Unless convoyed, it is said, a shipment stands little chance of coming through intact. The robbers seem well organized and armed and often so numerous as to resist arrest

Gift cargoes from other European states seem the favorite plunder, and, according to report, much of the stolen goods has been found for sale in the open market.

A large consignment of this character from Sweden arrived this week and when opened it was found that a portion of the fat and flour had been skillfully removed from each package and Austrian salt substituted.

Leap Year Cupid Aid.

Lexington, Ky.—In order to encourage matrimony and assist lovelorn girls to find "soulmates," Moses Kaufman, postmaster, has established a "leap year Cupid bureau." It is being worked overtime, too. Kaufman has issued a notice for all bachelors and widowers in line for leap year proposals to register with him.

Seeks a More Cheerful Job.

Eddyville, Ky.—There's a job for a chaplain at the Kentucky state prison here. Rev. J. D. Woodson, who for two terms has watched condemned men go to death, has had enough, and his resignation is in the hands of the governor.

Mlle. Dazie, noted Parisian dancer, was a passenger aboard the S. S. Baltic, which reached New York from Europe several days ago. Mlle. Dazie created quite a furor aboard ship by wearing wooden pumps during the voyage over. She said upon her arrival that while traveling in Belgium she found the natives wearing wooden shoes and so purchased a pair and found them very comfortable. She then bought several more pairs, and it is her intention to wear them while here.

HOW EUROPE CAN ESCAPE COLLAPSE

We Must Aid by Extending Credits, Says Davison.

GRAVE MENACE TO U. S. A.

European Ruin Would Involve America—Starvation and Disease Rampant.

Des Moines, Ia.—Speaking before the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Henry P. Davison, chairman of the Board of Governors of the League of Red Cross Societies, said:

As chairman of the Convention of Red Cross Societies, composed of representatives of twenty-seven nations that met recently in Geneva, I am custodian of authoritative reports recording appalling conditions among millions of people living in eastern Europe.

One of the most terrible tragedies in the history of the human race is being enacted within the broad belt of territory lying between the Baltic and the Black and Adriatic Seas.

This area includes the new Baltic States—Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, the Ukraine, Austria, Hungary, Roumania, Montenegro, Albania and Serbia.

The reports which come to us make it clear that in these war-ravaged lands civilization has broken down Disease, bereavement and suffering are present in practically every household, while food and clothing are insufficient to make life tolerable.

Men, women and children are dying by thousands, and over vast once-civilized areas there are to be found neither medicinal appliances nor medical skill sufficient to cope with the devastating plagues.

Wholesale starvation is threatened in Poland this summer unless she can procure food supplies in large quantities. There are now approximately 250,000 cases of typhus in Poland and in the area occupied by Polish troops.

Worst Typhus Epidemic in History.

This is already one of the worst typhus epidemics in the world's history. In Galicia whole towns are crippled and business suspended. In some districts there is but one doctor to each 150,000 people.

In the Ukraine, we were told, typhus and influenza have affected most of the population.

A report from Vienna, dated February 12, said: "There are rations for three weeks. Death stalks through the streets of Vienna and takes unhindered toll.

Budapest, according to our information, is one vast city of misery and suffering. The number of deaths is double that of births. Of the 160,000 children in the schools, 100,000 are dependent on public charity. There are 150,000 workers idle.

Typhus and smallpox have invaded the four countries composing Czecho-Slovakia, and there is lack of medicines, soap and physicians.

In Serbia typhus has broken out again and there are but 280 physicians to minister to the needs of that entire country.

In Montenegro, where food is running short, there are but five physicians for a population of 450,000.

America Overflowing With Riches.

Returning to the United States a few weeks ago with all these horrors ringing in my ears, I found myself once more in a land whose granaries were overflowing, where health and plenty abounded and where life and activity and eager enterprise were in the full flood.

I asked myself: "What if this plague and famine were here in the great territory between the Atlantic seaboard and the Mississippi valley, which roughly parallels the extent of these ravaged countries and that 65,000,000 of our own people condemned to idleness by lack of raw material and whose fields had been devastated by invasion and rapine were racked by starvation and pestilence and if we had lifted up our voices and invoked the attention of our brothers in happier Europe to our own deep miseries and our cries had fallen on deaf ears, would we not in our despair exclaim against their heartlessness?"

Only Three Ways to Help Europe.

There are only three ways by which these stricken lands can secure supplies from the outside world. One is by payment, one by credit, and the third is by exchange of commodities. If these peoples tried to buy materials and supplies in America at the present market value of their currencies Austria would have to pay forty times the original cost, Germany thirteen times, Greece just double, Czecho-Slovakia fourteen times and Poland fifty times. These figures are official and are a true index of the economic plight of these countries

It is clear, therefore, that they cannot give us gold for the things they must have, nor have they either products or securities to offer in return for credit. If only they could obtain raw material which these idle millions of theirs could convert into manufactured products they would have something to tender the world in return for its raw material, food and medicine. But if they have neither money nor credit how are they to take this first great step towards redemption

One-half the world may not eat while the other half starves. How long do you believe the plague of typhus that is taking a hideous death toll in Lithuania and Poland and the Ukraine and eating along the fringes of Germany and Czecho-Slovakia will confine itself to these remote lands?

Only last Saturday our health commissioner of New York, Dr. Copeland, sailed for the other side just to measure the danger and take precaution against such an invasion.

This is one menace at our threshold. The other, more threatening, more terrible, is the menace of the world's ill will. We can afford to die, but to be despised forever as a greedy and pharisaical nation is a fate that we must not incur.

The French government has many serious problems to solve, but the French peasant is working and the French artisan, while still sadly in need of raw materials, has not lost his habit of industry and thrift. The most encouraging fact about France today is that her people are alive to the seriousness of France's problem, and they are going forward bravely to solve that problem.

Italy, despite her great shortage of raw material, is looking forward and not backward. Italy can be relied upon to do her part!

England is meeting the problems of reconstruction just as those who knew her past should have expected her to meet them.

Plan to Aid Central Europe.

It is not for me perhaps to give in detail a formula for solution of the world's ills, but as I have been asked many times, "What would you do?" I am glad to give my own answer.

Accordingly, I would ask:

1. That Congress immediately pass a bill appropriating a sum not to exceed $500,000,000 for the use of Central and Eastern Europe.

2. That Congress call upon the President to appoint a nonpolitical commission of three Americans, distinguished for their character and executive ability and commanding the respect of the American people. Such a commission should include men of the type of General Pershing, Mr. Hoover or ex-Secretary Lane. I would invest that commission with complete power.

3. I would have the commission instructed to proceed at once, accompanied by proper personnel, to survey conditions in Central and Eastern Europe and then act for the restoration of those countries under such conditions and upon such terms as the commission itself may decide to be practicable and effective. Among the conditions should be provided that there should be no local interference with the free and untrammeled exercise by the commission of its own prerogative of allocating materials. Governmental politics should be eliminated; unreasonable and prejudicial barriers between the various countries should be removed, and such substantial guarantees as may be available should be exacted in order that the conditions imposed should be fulfilled.

4. As to financial terms, I should make them liberal. I would charge no interest for the first three years; for the next three years, 6 per cent, with provision that such interest might be funded if the economic conditions of the country were not approaching normal, or if its exchange conditions were so adverse as to make payment unduly burdensome, I should make the maturity of the obligation 15 years from its date, and I should have no doubt as to its final payment.

5. Immediately the plan was adopted I would have our government invite other governments in a position to assist, to participate in the undertaking.

6. To set forth completely my opinion, I should add that in the final instructions the American people, through their government, should say to the commission:

"We want you to go and do this job in such a manner as, after study, you think it should be done. This is no ordinary undertaking. The American people trust you to see that it is done right."

I would also say to the commission:

"Use so much of this money as is needed." Personally, I am confident that with the assistance and co-operation which would come from other parts of the world the sum of $500,000,000 from the United States would be more than enough to start these countries on their way to self support and the restoration of normal conditions.

The whole plan, of course, involves many practical considerations, the most serious of which is that of obtaining the money, whether by issuing additional Liberty bonds, an increase in the floating debt or by taxation. But I think we could properly say to the treasury department:

"We know how serious your financial problems are; we know the difficulties which are immediately confronting you; we know the importance of deflation, and we know that the government must economize and that individuals must economize, but we also know that the American government advanced $10,000,000,000 to its allies to attain victory and peace. Certainly it is worth making the additional advance in order to realize the peace for which we have already struggled, for nothing is more certain than that until normal conditions are restored in Europe there can be no peace."

Above all things, I would say that whatever action is taken should be taken immediately. The crisis is so acute that the situation does not admit of delay, except with the possibility of consequences one hardly dares contemplate.

The situation that I have spread out here is far beyond the scope of individual charity. Only by the action of governments, our own and the others whose resources enable them to co-operate, can aid be given in sufficient volume. I am also confident that our action would be followed by the governments of Great Britain, of Holland, of the Scandinavian countries, of Spain and Japan, and that France and Belgium and Italy, notwithstanding all of their losses, would help to the best of their ability.

GOOD OF COMMUNITY SERVICE

Ideals and Purposes Are in Evidence Now That Initial Organization Is Completed.

Soon after the organization of the American Legion an official order went out from the headquarters of War Camp Community Service to its field workers. Assistance and good will were to be given to the American Legion in all localities. On its side the Legion had already expressed its attitude toward the fast developing program of community service by the following clause in its constitution: "to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation."

When the American Legion began its drive for membership and sought to establish posts, the accumulated experience of War Camp Community Service with soldier and sailor needs proved helpful. The services of nine organizers of proved ability were placed at the Legion's disposal. As necessity demanded, offices, clubs and information booths became centers for the campaign. The swift advance of the organizers as post after post was established showed that common ideals and a common purpose constituted a great propelling power in this drive for members. And now that initial organization has been completed, these same common ideals and purposes are evident.

The friendliness of the American Legion for Community Service has recently been manifesting itself in various ways. In Fayetteville, N. C., the Legion is pledging funds for the 1920 program of a community club and three officers of the local post are working on the general Community Service committee. The entire community work in another place was continued at the suggestion and with the backing of the Legion. The Girls' Community Service League members are being asked to discuss with the local post and the leading men of the town the building of a community house. One of the Legion members in Freeport, Long Island, is so interested in the Community Service program that he is devoting a great deal of time and effort to engage the public in extensive plans for a civic center and community house. In several places a "community council" of Legion members has been appointed as a special committee to work with Community Service. Wherever the girls' groups are continuing activities the American Legion members are the popular guests at dances and parties.

In Nassau-Queens county, New York, the girls' clubs are successfully working out with the Legion community forums and social evenings. The forum discussions often lead to warm debates on national and international topics. The ex-soldier is keen to discuss current events and the girls are prepared to cope with several up-to-the-minute subjects. The patriotic stimulation and sociability resulting from these meetings is showing good results.

In less pretentious but nevertheless practical ways the Legion is working with Community Service in other places. For example in Baltimore it is giving free use of its ballroom each Saturday night to the girls' clubs. In Fredericksburg, Virginia, it helped in the production of a minstrel show; in Chelsea, Michigan, the post is opening its club rooms for a general Community Service in its request for the use of the armory for a recreational program.

A recreational and social program that is often community wide has been continued by the American Legion in many communities where the War Camp Community Service ceased to exist after the demobilization of the soldier. In cases where the soldiers' club or "hospitality house" was vacated by the government the American Legion went in and began a "carry on" movement. This was true in Dallas, Texas, where the American Legion, together with the Rainbow, 36th and 90th divisions, assumed the responsibility of running the soldier club. In Junction City, Kansas, the Legion has practically full charge of the Community House and its program.

The numerous occasions on which Community Service has been able to assist in programs given by the various local posts serve as other examples of the co-operation between the two organizations. From coaching the chorus of a minstrel show to the arrangement of an entire evening, orchestra to speakers, the Community Service workers have willingly put themselves at the beck and call of the Legion. In Hackensack, New Jersey, the opportunity of helping in a musical entertainment led to the possibility of forming a glee club of the Legion men; and the colored post of Englewood, New Jersey, has asked the help of Community Service in arranging a year's program of activities. The community council of Chelsea, Michigan, is co-operating with the Legion in conducting two weekly dancing classes, followed by a community dance. The Legion club rooms in Houston, Texas, were renovated and redecorated with the help of Community Service.

In many places the Community Service club rooms are housing the offices of the social center of the Legion. This has worked out for the benefit of both organizations, the Legion often taking part in the community entertainments and Community Service offering its assistance in membership campaigns and publicity. Often the local organizer is asked to explain the community program at banquets given by the local post. The understanding arrived at on such occasions usually has definite results.

One of the most recent services which Community Service was glad to render was the arranging of a program for the presentation, through the American Legion, of the certificates from the French High Commission to the nearest of kin of those who lost their lives in the world war. A complete program for the service was drawn up by an official at Community Service headquarters and sent out to all Legion posts as suggestive for Washington's birthday. It included appropriate numbers of the French and American music, a reading of Markham's poem, "France in Battle-flame," and a fitting pageant scene. Many cities used the service as written, others adapted it to suit local conditions.

The future plans of the American Legion and Community Service include features which can be worked out by both organizations together, to the mutual benefit of themselves and the community. In fact, the similarity of purposes will make more strongly effective the efforts of each for a better citizenship.

MURPHY SAW OVERSEAS DUTY

New Director of Service Division at National Headquarters Is Native of Vermont.

Gerald J. Murphy, the new director of the Service division at national headquarters of the American Legion, Indianapolis, is a native of Rutland, Vt., and has served with the American Legion since the establishment of temporary national headquarters in New York.

He was born in 1896. He was graduated from St. Michael's college, Winooski, Vt., with the class of 1917, and then matriculated at Georgetown University Law school, Washington, D. C., but left to join the infantry before the completion of the year.

He was later attached to the war risk section, then being formed by the late Maj. Willard D. Straight, and sailed for overseas duty December 12, 1917. He saw service at the various debarkation camps in England and Scotland. He left Brest in January, 1919, and was discharged from the army, February, 1919. He has risen to the rank of regimental sergeant major, but was never commissioned.

He was assistant head of the special service section of the bureau of war risk insurance for three months and was then called to headquarters of the American Legion as assistant head of the insurance division and later of the service division, which took over the work and handled all other claims of ex-service men.

Mr. Murphy succeeds Charles F. Sheridan of Syracuse, who has been head of the service division at national headquarters of the American Legion for the past eight months, and who resigned to resume the practice of law in his native city.

STRAINED CREDIT HITS SPECULATORS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 19.—The strained credit situation caused by the withdrawal of government funds for speculative purposes caused heavy selling on the stock market this afternoon, which was reflected in losses of from 2 to 9 points in the entire list. Steel Common broke 3½ points to a new low price on the movement of 91. Mexican Petroleum dropped over 8 points to 172. Pan-American Petroleum at 95½ was off nearly 7 points. Baldwin dropped 6 points to 109⅝.

Heavy selling of Liberty Bond issues continued this afternoon and new low records were established. Liberty first 4's sold off 30 cents to [illegible], while the second 4's dropped 60 cents to $82, the lowest price ever reached.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Mrs Dionisio Mauro died Monday at her home in Glasco aged 71 years. The funeral was held today from St Joseph's Church, Glasco, Rev. Matthew Di Iorio officiating.

Tjerck I Rifenbary, a prominent druggist of Central Valley, died at his home Monday afternoon after a brief illness of cancer. Mr. Rifenbary was born in this city 42 years ago and was the son of the late James H. and Elizabeth Rifenbary who moved from this city to Newburgh several years ago. About twelve years ago he went to Central Valley and engaged in the drug business meeting with great success. He was a gentleman of genial disposition and a man who made many friends. SHERIFF'S FORCE HOT ON TRAIL

One of Cohen's Green envelopes, legal size, has been safely deposited in the office of Sheriff Smith in the court house and the sleuths there are busy trying to locate the envelope. Just how it was placed there or just where no one knows but there is great activity on the part of the sheriff's men to locate it and secure the reward. As Sheriff Smith's "detectives" are used to following an elusive trail the Green envelope will not remain hidden long.

The Green envelopes which will be dropped from now on may be either $2 or $1 envelopes. The big $5 envelope will be dropped this week and any of the Green envelopes may contain a $2 bill instead of the usual $1 with four tickets to Keeney's theater instead the usual two tickets.

The club house of the Outlaw Club on Murray street was totally destroyed by fire this afternoon. The club house was a one-story small wooden building located on the top of the hill in the rear of the old lime kiln. The building was used by a crowd of young boys who called themselves the Outlaw Club, and met in the shack evenings and after school hours.

The boys believe that some rivals, who were not members of the club, grew jealous over the good times the club members had at the shack and set it on fire. Whatever the origin of the fire it was a clean job for the building is a total wreck with its contents.

An alarm of fire was turned in from Box 44 Hasbrouck avenue and Murray street, to which the fire department responded.

WEAR DEAD HUSBAND'S SKULL

Andaman Widows Carry Gruesome Relic for Full Year, and Then Take Another Mate.

Widows in the Andaman islands mourn on the death of their husbands by detaching the jaws of the dead, placing the heads on a platform in a tree for the birds to pick, then cleaning and ornamenting them with shells and wearing them on their backs for a year, even while working. At the end of the year they are free to marry again.

The widow has a warrior picked out for her by the chief, and he is usually accepted by her at sight. Then she goes to some lone spot, buries her beloved skull and returns to the camp to feast and dance. She soon, however, returns to the skull and spends a week in praying and fasting in its company, after which the skull is unearthed and brought to the village, where it is stuck on a pole and made to look on at a scene of feasting and dancing. When the marriage ceremony is over the skull is buried somewhere and forgotten.

The dead man is of no importance to the tribe. At the banquet the people gorge themselves and whirl and dance like mad things to the sound of the yemenga, a native instrument, until they drop one by one from sheer exhaustion.

Alexandria Modern City.

Alexandria, founded by the world conqueror, Alexander the Great, is an Egyptian city that is eager to lose its connection with the far away past and become completely modernized. Fate favors this ambition, for the wonders that Cleopatra knew have been eaten by fire or swept away by the sea. Alexandria is a city of trade and fashion, dominated by prosperous Europeans too deeply absorbed in the stock exchange to be even vaguely interested in the romantic side of their city.

Except for a few visitors who have read a little history and are mildly inquisitive regarding Cleopatra's palace and Pompey's pillar, the ruins of Alexandria rest peacefully, unphotographed and unchipped by souvenir hunters. One thing against the popularity of Alexandria's ruins is their [illegible]. For the most part, they consist of a few carved stones and some "steles."

THE DINNER PARTY.

"Did you ever hear or see anything so absurd?" asked the giraffe named Gerry of the giraffe named Terry.

"Never," said Terry. "What's it all about?"

"You see," said Gerry, "the people of the circus are giving a dinner to their friends and they're having it here in this big room.

"The circus, as you know, is in the city, a great big city. I don't know it's name, but it's a very big city. I wouldn't tell anyone else I didn't know the name of the city for they'd laugh.

"And it's not my job to make folks laugh. The clowns do that and that's all right. I'm a giraffe for folks to look at. I'll do nothing more than I have to do. I'm a very up-to-date giraffe."

"Why, and what do you mean?" asked Terry.

"I mean," said Gerry, "that in these times folks and creatures won't do anything more than they agree to. I suppose it will change after a bit.

"But for a while now folks have forgotten that there was a word called obliging and a word called willing and several words — do-a-little-more-than-your-share.

"So I've joined in with them, too. And I shan't tell jokes because I wasn't engaged to tell jokes. See?"

"Dear me," said Terry, "you are a funny one."

"Well," said Jerry, "my bark is worse than my bite."

"What?" said Terry. "Whatever do you mean? You don't bark and you're not a dog. And you don't bite. When you fight you fight with your hoofs."

"How Do You Do?"

"Oh," said Gerry, "that is just an expression, meaning that what I say is worse than what I do."

"Do say what you mean in simple words in the future," said Terry, "or I can't understand you."

"Well, if I didn't talk in simple words, or use simple words, or however one does express it, I wouldn't be able to understand myself."

"You were talking about this dinner," said Terry. "Tell me more about it."

"You see, as I said before, we're beginning our spring season by giving the circus for a whole month in this big city. Then we move on to some more cities and then we go about to country places when the summer time is here, and to small cities, too. They're all the same to me. "But the circus people are giving a dinner here to all their friends who aren't in the circus."

"Everyone who isn't in the circus, but who is in the city is here then, then?" inquired Terry.

"Gracious no," said Gerry, "only those who are friends of the circus people. The circus people don't know everyone in the city by any manner of means."

"Well, of course I didn't know," said Terry.

"They're in this big room as you see, where we are. I wonder what they think of us? One is looking at the monkeys and at us, and at the old elephant, just below yonder stairs with a smile on his face! Hear, the monkeys are squealing for them, and the kangaroo is jumping about. I'll have to pass the word around that this isn't a free entertainment.

"It's a free dinner, of course. That is, the circus is giving it to their friends, and the friends are getting the dinner free. They got great big bill posters as invitations with all sorts of colored animals, and clowns and words upon them, most beautiful words telling of how fine the dinner and entertainment would be. But we're not supposed to be in the show. That's to be afterwards. Foolish of the monkeys to be doing tricks like that."

"Oh, Gerry, don't get so fussy. Be entertaining while you can. You've only one giraffe's life to lead, and be happy and make others happy."

"I guess you're right, Terry," said Gerry. And the giraffe began waving his head about and saying, "Well, folks, how-do-you-do, I hope the meat is cold enough and the water is hot enough, or rather I mean the other way around."

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen," said Terry, waving his long neck, too, as best he could. "It's a pleasure to welcome you to this supper party. And we're hoping you're all having a pleasant time."

MOORE LEADS FOR PENNA. DELEGATE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Philadelphia, May 19.—Returns from the state wide primary election in Pennsylvania were coming in slowly today because of the large number of candidates of the several party ballots, coupled with bitter factional fighting.

Mayor J. Hampton Moore was running slightly ahead of Governor Sproul, W. Freeland Kendrick and Senator Penrose when 477 districts of the 7,118 districts in the state were reported early today on the vote for delegates at large.

Bois Penrose was renominated for his fifth term in the United States senate without a contest.

The Democratic state headquarters at Harrisburg early today claimed that the entire delegation of 76 will be for Attorney General Palmer for the presidency and also claimed that the entire state ticket placed in the field by the Palmer wing of the party will be nominated.

Johnny has three sisters, but no brothers, which is a constant source of regret to the little man. When new neighbors, with two boys, moved in next door he was delighted and rushed in to his mother with, "Oh, mother, there's two brothers and even their goat's a boy, 'cause they call him Billy."

FEMALE HELP WANTED

WANTED—Nursery governess or mother's assistant, young woman of refined family and good education, cheerful disposition, and fond of children for girl and boy, ages 8 and 6, who attend school. [illegible] surroundings in New York suburb. Best personal references required. Address E. [illegible] avenue, [illegible], N. J.

John Brandt, 13, youthful soldier of fortune, is being held by the Children's Society, New York, at the request of the Norfolk, Va., police. John appeared at the Hotel Claridge, New York, several days ago and demanded a room and bath. As he had no baggage and was under age he was turned over to the police, who in turn sent him to the Children's Society. John declared his name was not John Brandt and refused to tell who he was or anything about himself beyond the fact that he had been roaming about the country alone since he was 8 years old. He has admitted, according to the police, that he was mixed up in a little trouble in Norfolk. He said he was in France with the soldiers for several years and was in Coblenz after the signing of the armistice. John had skillfully removed all possible identification tags from his clothes, cap and shoes, and his real identity is a puzzle to the New York police.

The Nursery.

Bright colors, plenty of light, clean windows, an abundance of good colored prints and toys without number are the proper furnishings for a nursery. Nursery! Why, the very name tells you what it ought to be—the home of childhood—the most important room in the house—a room that will greatly tend to stamp the character of your child for the remainder of his life.

Alps and the Rockies.

The Swiss Alps are traversed by rail in five hours, but the magnificent scenery between Calgary and Vancouver lasts for 22 hours' rapid traveling.

Found Excuse for Him.

William, looking out of the window one day, was much scandalized to see a man walk up to a woman and kiss her. He evidently thought it over, however, for he said presently: "Well, perhaps he is one of her ancestors."

Oils and Their Uses.

Crushing seeds to extract oils has been employed in Japan for centuries. Rape seed oil has long been used for frying fish and lobsters, and is today the principal fat in the Japanese diet. Cottonseed oil was used as a substitute for rapeseed oil and for lighting purposes. The ancient Japanese also understood the extraction of oil.

HE HEDGED.

Peach Grower's Poor Judgment of Frost Damage Costly.

A story is told of a town of Shawangunk man, who is a leader in politics there, who sold his prospective crop of peaches to two young men of that town for $10, because he came to the conclusion some time ago that all the buds on his many peaches had been frozen and that he would not have a crop this year. Since then he ascertained that he was mistaken and that a big proportion of the peach buds were all right and that there was a prospect of a goodly crop. The story is that the Shawangunk man has since got busy and had a friend buy off the young men who paid $10 for the prospective crop for a few hundred dollars and the contract which he made has been destroyed. Indications now are he will have a peach crop the coming season that he expects to sell for nearly $2,000.

FOUR MASCOTS

Of Border Aero Squad Born in Flight.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Nogales, Ariz., May 19.—At least four "members" of the Twelfth Aero Squadron will have a difficult time pointing out their "old home places" to their progeny in the years to come. The four are the latest addition to the Twelfth, which has just moved here for station from El Paso.

When the squadron moved out of El Paso it became a question of what to do with the mascots, a pair of cats. They were finally stowed away in one of the planes.

Upon arriving here after the long flight there were six cats. The four newcomers were born about 5,000 feet over the arid lands of Arizona while travelling anywhere from 100 to 125 miles an hour.

This work is in connection with the study of nutrition of the senior class in home making.

Miss May E. Davis is the instructor of the domestic science department at the high school and personally supervises the exhibit.

Upon the graves of the dead in the Turkish cemeteries little vessels of water are placed for the benefit of the birds, the superstition being that birds carry messages about the living to the dead.

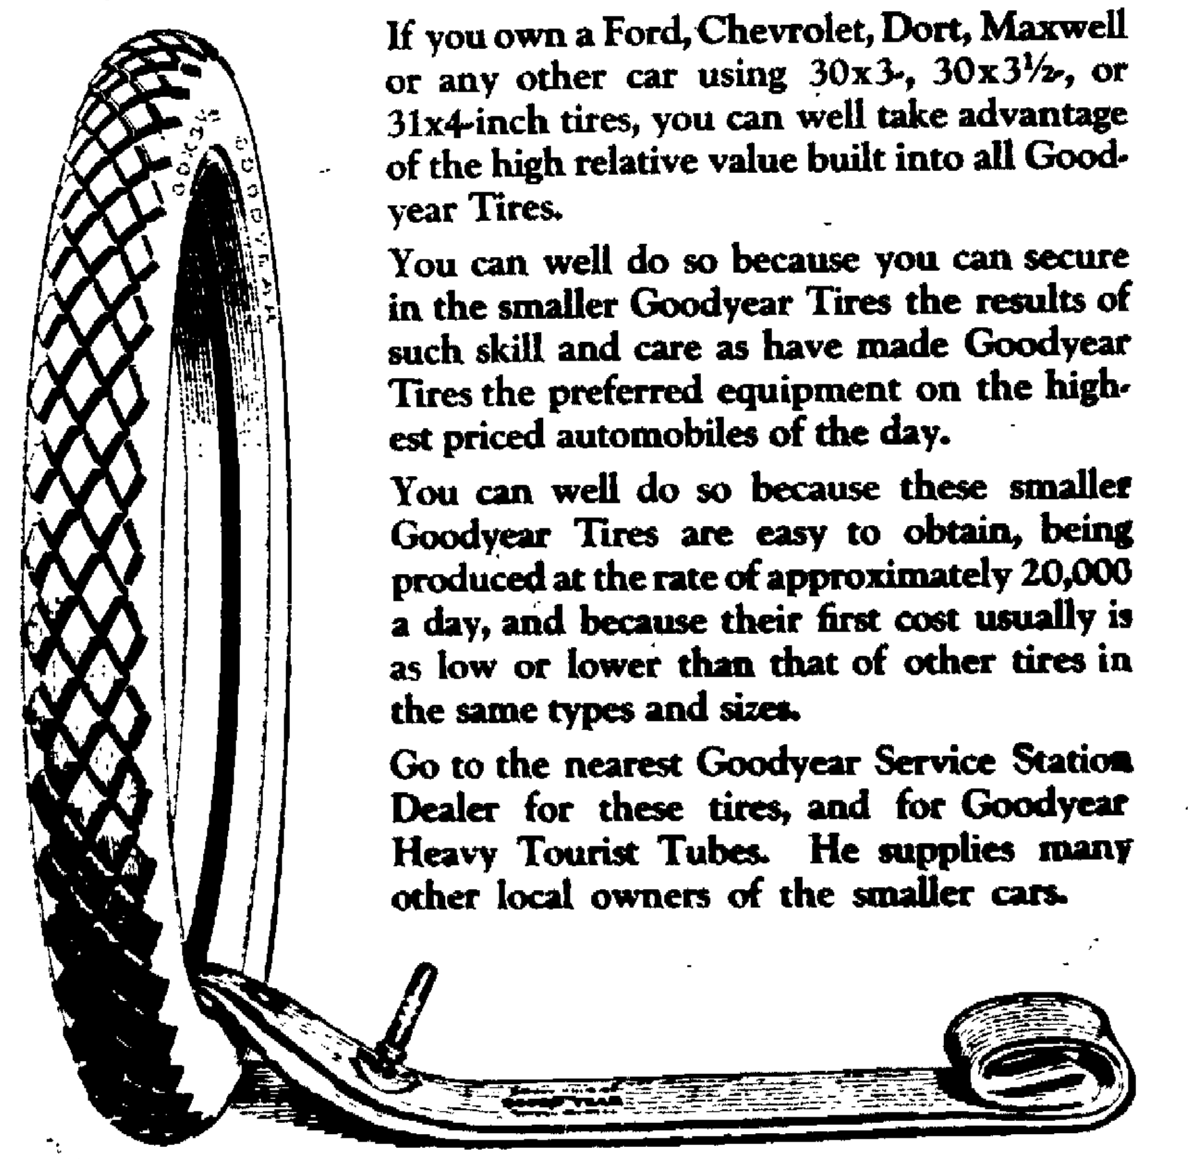
Equip Your Smaller Car With Goodyear Tires

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or any other car using 30x3-, 30x3½-, or 31x4-inch tires, you can well take advantage of the high relative value built into all Goodyear Tires.

You can well do so because you can secure in the smaller Goodyear Tires the results of such skill and care as have made Goodyear Tires the preferred equipment on the highest priced automobiles of the day.

You can well do so because these smaller Goodyear Tires are easy to obtain, being produced at the rate of approximately 20,000 a day, and because their first cost usually is as low or lower than that of other tires in the same types and sizes.

Go to the nearest Goodyear Service Station Dealer for these tires, and for Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes. He supplies many other local owners of the smaller cars.



30x3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread ... $23.50

30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread ... $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3½ size in waterproof bag ... $4.50
